Saddlebred Futurity

Story and candid photos by Barbara Walker

The 33rd annual Arizona Futurity was held again this year at the beautiful West World complex in northeast Scottsdale. The meticulous facility encompasses a large covered arena, two warm up rings and permanent stabling for over 400 horses. Extensive manicured grounds provide a beautiful setting backed by a majestic chain of mountains. With three performances a day at 9:00, noon and 6:00 there is little down time for exhibitors to take advantage of this lovely city. The many resort hotels and world-class golf courses, within minutes from the grounds, provide a vacation atmosphere for the exhibitors. Some come a few days early to take advantage of this.

This show was the 2007 ASHA Southwest Regional Championship Horse Show for the second year. Sponsored by the American Saddlebred Association of Arizona, it was very professionally managed by Kent Moeller of Powhatan, Va. Steve Allred of Winston Salem, N.C., judged the Saddlebreds, ponies, equitation and Walking Horse classes. The weather was fabulous and the camaraderie between the various barns was amazing. Everyone was helping everyone else and having a good time doing it.

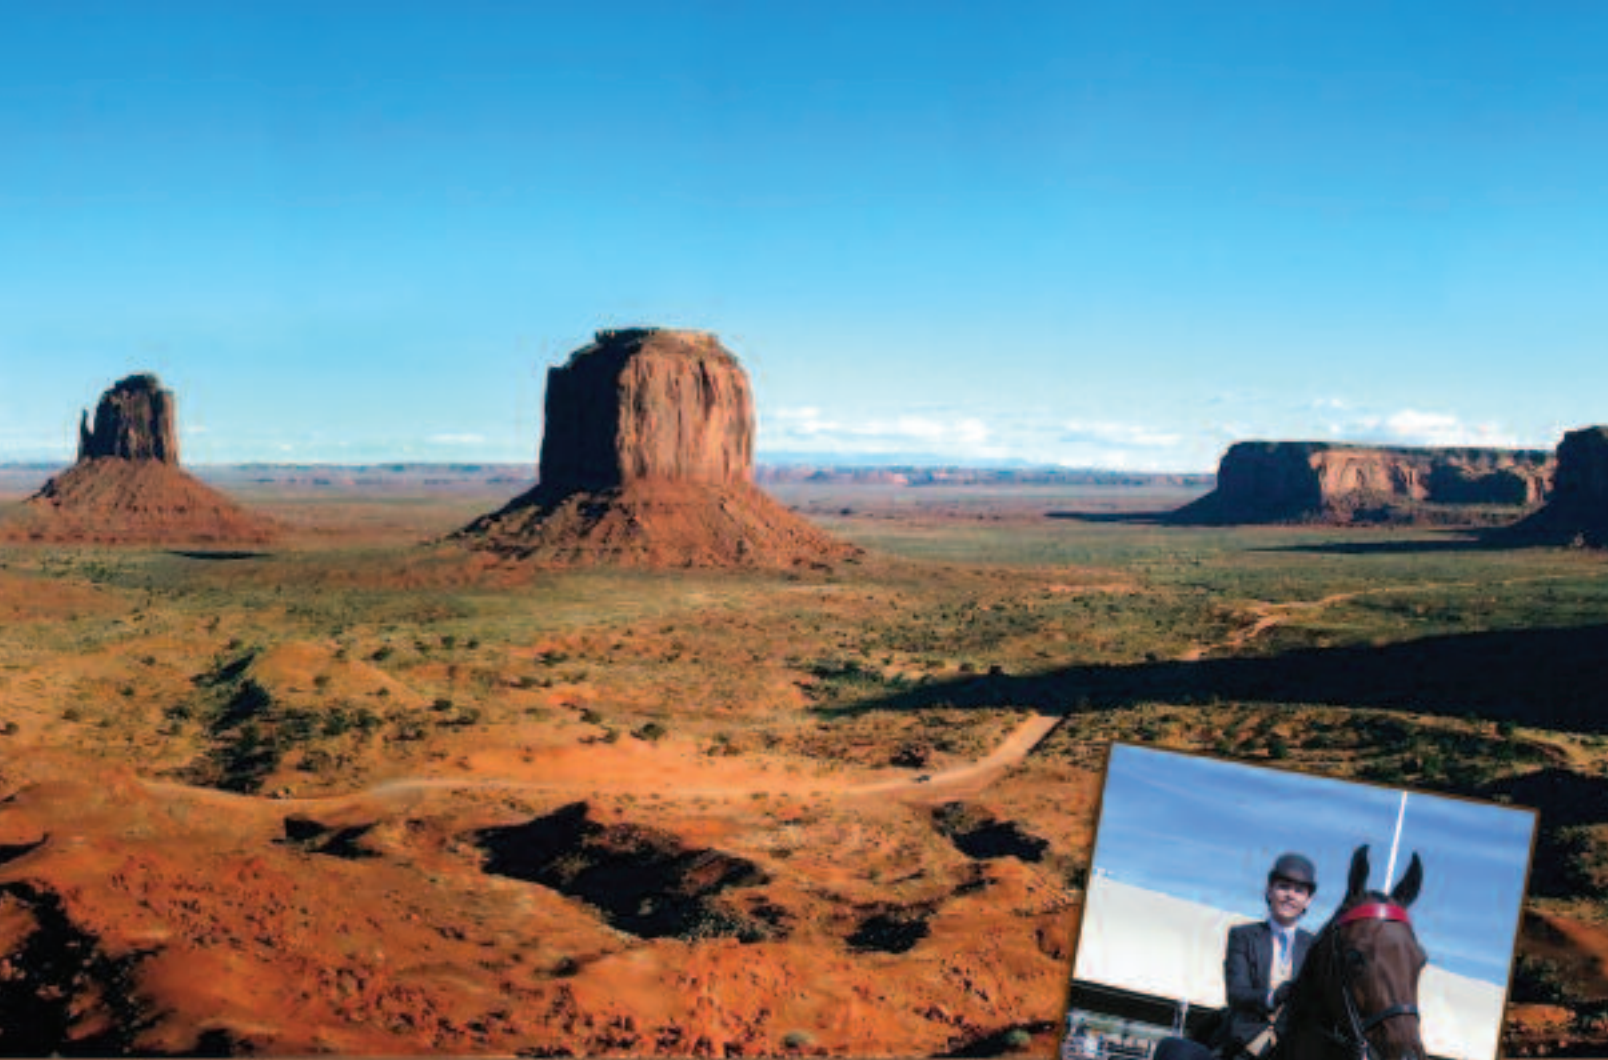

Unfortunately there was an absence of California exhibitors who were just barely recovering from the massive fires in the southern part of the state. But the Arizona barns filled those spots easily. This state's entries continue to mushroom ahead with more and more local exhibitors every year. Stables like White Star, headed by Matt Roberts and Marcia Everett, and Bugle Boy with trainer Dave Hysaw, brought exhibitors in droves. Each won their giant share of the trophies. Every thing from seasoned almost-professionals to scores of academy riders filled the arena. Teri Yount's barn was floating in kids, all having a great time with their blue ribbons. Tara Weber's junior exhibitors were having a terrific show. Michelle McVey's stable was brimming with successful children of all ages. The winning team of Roman and Casey Marcos were busy with many longtime and several new customers, all laughing most of the time. Growing up in one of these barns certainly must be an experience of a lifetime for a child. They couldn't have a better environment. The academy classes were brimming with bright smiling faces of all ages. The five- and six-year-olds knock your socks off with their mature attitude toward riding. The Saddle Horse community in Scottsdale is growing by leaps and bounds thanks to these and other hard working trainers who see the future in these new academy riders.

FIVE-GAITED

The Big Unit, with Roman Marcos for Julie Greenbaum Belgrad, was the star of the five-gaited division, taking both the open and the open stake. Roman was in the irons again showcasing Our Sweet Addison, to success in the junior/novice five-gaited championship for Emerald Hills Ranch. The three-year-old five-gaited class was topped by Paul Cates, guiding Madiera's Taste Of Reality for Dr. Albert Alexander. Kendall Weber guided her darling Jack-A-Lope to the amateur five-gaited class and the amateur stake championships. Trained by Tara Weber. She's A Keeper with owner Gentry Beauclair, offered superb passes to easily take the junior exhibitor open and stake. Trainer, Matt Roberts heading the victory pass.

THREE-GAITED

Teri Yount guided the pretty chestnut mare, Florenza for Hetherington & Yount, winning the three-gaited open and stake. Kathryn Morey showed her mare, Miss Rose Marie, to the blue in both the amateur junior exhibitor class and the amateur stake. Precious Hannah Roberts directed The Jordan Heir to wonderful wins in the junior exhibitor three-gaited class and the junior exhibitor stake. Matt Roberts, trainer.

FINE HARNESS

PARK/ PARK PLEASURE

Intoxicating Heir, with Dr. Catherine Gallo, took the victory pass in the three-gaited park stake. Sir Smooch A lot, with Cayce Marcos for Julie Belgrad, was the open three-gaited park winner. Roman Marcos guided Cute As A Button to victory in both the park pleasure open and stake. Roman was also in the irons taking the junior/limit park pleasure class with Chance Of Thunder for Seahorse

Kendall Weber with Lauren Kaplin and Peritime.

Stables.

SHOW PLEASURE

Life's A Dance, with owner Chris Tresten, took the victory pass in the five-gaited show pleasure stake, with trainer Dan Flowers picking up the trophy. Ron Harris guided his pretty gelding, Count Fleet, in a terrific performance winning the five-gaited show pleasure open. Dave Hysaw, trainer.

Shelby Jackson has been capably collecting blues all season with her chestnut gelding, Explosive Material. She added another to the collection winning the junior exhibitor three-gaited show pleasure stake. Dave Hysaw, trainer. Executive Phorce, with owner Sara Bratcher, posed for the victory shot in the junior exhibitor three-gaited show pleasure qualifying class. Milo Jones, trainer. Julia Roberts topped the junior/limit three-gaited show pleasure class with owner Danielle Hever.

The handsome perennial champion, CH J. Peterman, with owner Corinne Tomlinson, took blues in both the show pleasure driving open and stake. Roman and Cayce Marcos, trainers.

COUNTRY PLEASURE

The current Reserve World's Champion adult three-gaited country pleasure horse, CH Highpoint's Abba Zabba, graced the arena and took home blues in both the open and stake in that division, with owner Kendall Weber. Tara Weber, trainer. Precious Hannah Vandeventer, piloted her gelding News Stand to a win in the junior exhibitor country pleasure stake, with trainer Matt Roberts heading up the victory pass. Marissa Thomas guided her chestnut gelding Sultan's Desert Heat to a win in the junior exhibitor country pleasure open.

Screen Idol, with Corinne Stith, topped both the country pleasure driving and open and stake. Milo Jones, trainer.

WESTERN/HUNTER

The current reigning World's Champion (for the second year) country western pleasure horse, CH Fiasco, offered starring performances winning both the open and stake in that division, with owner Douglas Glick. Michael Craghead, owner.

In the country western pleasure OTR class, Toreador, with Dr. Catherine Gallo, made the victory pass with trainer. Likely Suspect, with owner Nancy Moreno, took Saddle & Bridle's Shatner Western pleasure class. Dan Flowers, trainer.

More For Your Buck with Alex Polydoros for Pamela Polydoros, was the hunter country pleasure open and stake winner. Barbara Haynes, trainer.

PONIES

DF Tres Chic, with owner Kendall Weber, took blues at this show for the second year. This time in the road pony open and stake. If there's a blue ribbon available somewhere, Kendall will be there claiming it. Rarely does a junior exhibitor, and now an amateur exhibitor, have the record of success in every single division this pretty young lady has had during her lifetime. Tara Weber, trainer.

EQUITATION

Emily Chapman gracefully topped the saddle seat equitation division for the second year in a row, winning both the 17 and under class and the stake. Tara Weber, trainer. Three blues for multi-champion Kirwan Kennedy in the 10 and under walk/trot division. This little lady steals every show with her presence and gigantic smile. The equitation open and stake and the UPHA class belonged to her. Trainer, Matthew Roberts, with a lot to smile about, picked up the trophies.

In pleasure equitation, Alyssa Blinkoff made a delightful ride to take the blue and Danielle Heuer topped the Saddle & Bridle Pleasure Equitation Medallion class.
