

Tri-State Horse Shows Association Awards Banquet

By Linda A. Radtke

On February 10, a cold Saturday evening at the Embassy Suites in Dublin, Ohio, the Tri-State Horse Show Association held its annual awards banquet and played host to over 300 members and guests. The evening and a silver and diamond necklace. David Rice did a fine job as Master of Ceremonies announcing the champions and reserve champions. Claire Panke did a wonderful job finding just the right awards, and Judy Peters did a great job handling the beautiful long tri-colored ribbons. Making sure the points went to the right horse or rider was Joan Williams. Steve Moody and Lynn Snowden made sure the room fit

Kaitlyn Klucas A Bright Star

One of the stars of the recent Tri-State Horse Show Association Awards Banquet, was 16-year-old Kaitlyn Elizabeth Klucas, Hallmark Farm Saddlebreds of New London, Ohio.

Kaitlyn had a banner show season with her show horses Showtime Shamrock, a World Champion GASHA title, Veronica's Surprise, a winning show pleasure mare and undefeated in in-hand classes, Sync Heir Swim, her winning five-gaited horse, and The Wine Merchant, her driving horse. All of these horses won their share of championships this past season as well as high point awards.

At Tri-State, Katie knew she won an award for five-gaited junior exhibitor, but she didn't know it was the high point until she saw her name in print. Needless to say, she was quite pleased. Perhaps the two biggest thrills for her were when it was announced she won a $1,000 scholarship and better yet, she was voted by her peers as the Tri-State Horse Shows Association Junior Member of the Year! It was truly a night for Kaitlyn, as the spotlight shined on her. She is proudly supported by her family and wishes to thank them for all their support. In addition to showing horses, Kaitlyn is a member of the school's show choir, which she had to audition for. The choir performs at the school and the surrounding area.

GASHA Is Gone!

Megan Pickett, secretary/treasurer of the Golden American Saddlebred Horse Association, sadly announced that the association has come to an end due to lack of interest. With this news comes the end of the World's Champion titles held at the Blue Ribbon Classic Horse Show in October. If you have any comments, views, ideas, or suggestions, please contact her at (419) 929-0609.

Monday's Landing Sold

Gloria Edwards, Edwards Training Stables, announced the sale of Monday's Landing to Kenzie Murray. This is Kenzie's first American Saddlebred and she will debut with him in 10 and under walk/trot equitation and walk/trot pleasure.
